The goal of the Sprott Physical Gold Trust (the "Trust") is to provide a secure, convenient and exchange-traded investment alternative for investors who want to hold physical gold without the inconvenience that is typical of a direct investment in physical gold bullion. The Trust offers a number of compelling advantages over traditional exchange-traded gold funds.

1. Storage in Canada

The Trust's physical gold bullion is fully allocated and stored at a secure third party storage location in Canada. The physical gold bullion is subject to periodic inspection and audits.

2. Gold assets not held with a bank owned custodian

Unlike most traditional exchange-traded gold funds, the Trust holds its gold bullion assets in custody at a Federal Crown Corporation of the Government of Canada. There is no levered financial institution between the unitholders and the trust's physical gold, and no risk of financial loss in the event of a bankruptcy or nationalization of the financial institution.

3. Potential Tax Advantage For Certain U.S. Investors

For U.S. non-corporate investors who hold units for one year or more and timely file a QEF form, gains realized on the sale of the Trust's units are currently taxed at a capital gains rate of 15% (20% for married filers earning over $450,000 and single filers earning over $400,000 per year), versus 28% applied against most precious metals ETF's and physical gold coins.

For more information, please see "Tax Considerations – U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations – U.S. Federal Income Taxation of U.S. Holders" in the prospectus and always consult your tax accountant regarding your particular situation.

4. Ability to Redeem Units for Physical Gold Bullion

Unitholders who hold certain minimum dollar value equivalent have the ability to redeem their units for physical gold bullion on a monthly basis. Please see "Redemption of Units" in the prospectus for details.

The gold Custodian can deliver the bars almost anywhere in the world via an Armored Transportation Service Carrier. Physical redemptions will never dilute remaining unitholders. All physical redemptions are equal to 100% of the NAV of the redeemed units, less redemption and delivery expenses, including the handling of the notice of redemption and the applicable gold storage in-and-out fees.

5. Investment in Physical Gold Bullion Only

With the exception of cash held by the Trust to pay expenses and anticipated redemptions, the Trust exclusively invests in London Good Delivery physical gold bullion. At any given time, the Manager intends to hold 97% of the total net assets of the Trust in physical gold bullion in LGD bar form. The Trust does not invest in precious metals certificates or other financial instruments that represent gold or that may be exchanged for gold.

6. Fully Allocated Physical Gold Bullion – No Exceptions

The Trust's gold bullion holdings are fully allocated. Unlike other bullion funds, the Trust does not have an unallocated account that is used to facilitate transfers of gold between financial institutions that act as authorized participants. Without exception, all of the gold bullion owned by the Trust is held in the Trust's allocated accounts in physical gold bar form.

7. Potential to Trade at a Premium to Net Asset Value

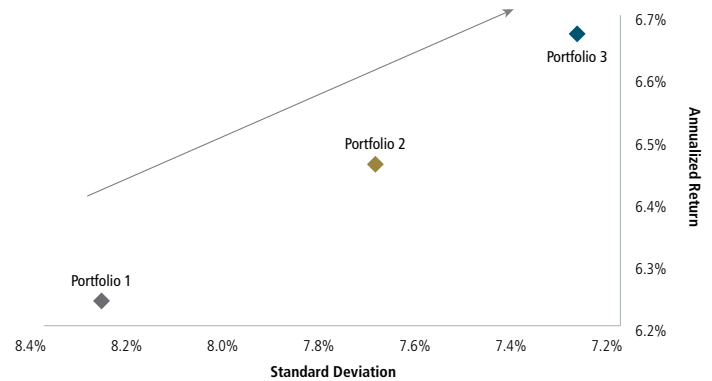

Because of its unique features and favourable tax treatment, the Trust has the potential to trade at a premium to its net asset value. This offers investors a unique opportunity to profit from higher gold prices as well as any market price increases relative to the NAV. The Trust may also trade at a discount.

Reasons To Own Gold

Gold may assist in protecting a portfolio from inflation and currency devaluation. Gold has a negative or low correlation with most other asset classes, making it an effective portfolio diversifier. Gold prices have generally increased during times of U.S. dollar decline and may provide a hedge against purchasing power erosion. Its attributes and relative scarcity make it an ideal store of monetary value – one that benefits greatly by the fact that it is no one’s liability.
